

NRL and the AN/UYS-1 Advanced Signal Processor

Signal Processors are required at the front-end of weapon systems to reduce digital sensor data to target data for input to data and display process computers. The AN/UYS-1 Advanced Signal Processor (ASP) was the first programmable signal processor optimized for high speed modularized signal processing applications.

